The preparation of the Alabama Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan, 2008-2012 was financed in part through a planning grant from the National Park Service, United States Department of the Interior, under the provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (Public Law 88-578, as amended).

Sincere appreciation is extended to those persons who attended the public involvement meetings and workshop that were conducted in conjunction with the preparation of the Alabama Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan, 2008-2012 and the Alabama Trails Plan and to those persons who were unable to attend but provided comments and suggestions. These plans are a reflection of your assistance, feedback and comments. The State of Alabama is a richer place because of your commitment to the ongoing improvement of outdoor recreation and trail opportunities.

Chapter 2: Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan and Open Project Selection Process

A. State Plan Preparation, Procedures, and Eligibility

1. Purpose. This section explains the objectives, eligibility requirements, and guidelines for the preparation of Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plans (SCORP) and the NPS review and approval process. The SCORP is required by Section 6(d) of the LWCF Act of 1965, as amended.

The guidelines are based on provisions of the LWCF Act, related federal statutes, and determinations of the NPS regarding planning considerations essential for effective administration of the LWCF program.

The Governor and/or the officially designated State Liaison Officer (SLO) are the officials authorized to act for the State, as specified under the various provisions of this Part.

2. Requirements of the LWCF Act of 1965, as amended. The LWCF Act of 1965, as amended, requires a SCORP from each State prior to consideration by the Secretary of the Department of the Interior for financial assistance for acquisition and development projects.

The LWCF Act explicitly requires the SCORP to include the following:

- a. The name of the state agency that will have the authority to represent and act for the State in dealing with the Secretary for purposes of the LWCF Act of 1965, as amended;
- b. An evaluation of the demand for and supply of outdoor recreation resources and facilities in the State;
- c. A program for the implementation of the plan;
- d. Certification by the Governor that ample opportunity for public participation has taken place in plan development; and
- e. Other necessary information, as may be determined by the Secretary.

The SCORP shall take into account relevant federal resources and programs and shall be correlated so far as practicable with other state, regional and local plans.

3. Goals and objectives of the SCORP. The goals of the SCORP and its associated planning process are to direct each State's use of its LWCF apportionment. The objectives of the SCORP and its associated planning process are to:
  - a. Fulfill the purposes of the LWCF Act;
  - b. Provide each State the maximum opportunity and flexibility to develop and implement its plan;
  - c. Describe the role of the LWCF in the State's provision of outdoor recreation resources and the State's policies for use of its LWCF apportionment;
  - d. Provide a basis for determining each State's LWCF eligibility; and
  - e. Ensure relevant, influential and timely planning for the State's use of its LWCF apportionment.

Each State is encouraged to conduct outdoor recreation planning beyond the minimum required to maintain LWCF eligibility. Under Section 8(a) of Public Law 90-543, as amended, and Section 11(a) of Public Law 90-542, as amended, respectively, the secretary is directed to encourage States to consider in their plans the needs and opportunities for establishing recreation and historic trails, and wild, scenic and recreational river areas. In addition, the plan must contain a wetlands component pursuant to Section 303 of the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986 (see item 4.e below).

4. Plan requirements. The minimum requirements of the plan are:
  - a. The plan must describe the process and methodology(s) chosen by the State to meet the guidelines as set forth in this section.
  - b. The planning process must include ample opportunity for public participation involving all segments of the state's population.
  - c. The plan must be comprehensive. The plan will be considered comprehensive if it:
    - (1) Identifies outdoor recreation issues of statewide importance based upon, but not limited to, input from the public participation program. The plan must also identify those issues the State will address through the LWCF and those issues which may be addressed by other means;
    - (2) Evaluates demand, i.e., public outdoor recreation preferences, but not necessarily through quantitative statewide surveys or analyses; and
    - (3) Evaluates the supply of outdoor recreation resources and facilities, but not necessarily through quantitative statewide inventories.
  - d. The plan must have an implementation program that identifies the State's strategies, priorities, and actions for the obligation of its LWCF apportionment. The implementation program must be of sufficient detail for use in developing project selection criteria for the State's Open Project Selection Process (OPSP) so projects submitted to NPS for LWCF funding will implement the SCORP.
  - e. The plan must contain or reference a wetlands priority component consistent with Section 303 of the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986. At a minimum, the wetlands priority component must:
    - (1) Be consistent with the National Wetlands Priority Conservation Plan, prepared by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service;
    - (2) Provide evidence of consultation with the state agency responsible for fish and wildlife resources;
    - (3) Contain a listing of those wetland types which should receive priority for acquisition; and
    - (4) Consider outdoor recreation opportunities associated with its wetlands resources for meeting the State's public outdoor recreation needs.
  - f. The plan may consist of a single document or may be comprised of multiple documents as long as the guidelines as set forth in this section are met.
5. Plan cooperation. An effective working partnership between each State and the NPS is necessary to consult and coordinate on such elements as scheduling, planning methodology(s), public participation, and the NPS assistance needed by the State. Each State is strongly encouraged to consult and coordinate with the NPS on a regular basis, especially at the start of its planning cycle, to ensure that the planning process and its products are mutually acceptable.
6. Submission of plan documentation. The minimum documentation required to be submitted by each State to NPS as evidence of conformance with this section is a new or revised plan at least once every five years. The Plan must be approved by the State Governor and contain a certification by the Governor that ample opportunity for public participation has taken place in development of the Plan. A total of three (3) copies of the Plan must be submitted to the NPS. States are encouraged to post the Plan on the agency's Website and use other means as appropriate to make it available to the public.

Amendments to the Plan may be submitted at any time. Amendments will follow the same review and approval procedures as the original Plan.

7. State LWCF eligibility related to planning. Each State will be deemed eligible to participate in the LWCF State Assistance Program when its SCORP meets the requirements of the LWCF Act. The Act requires an adequate and approved SCORP prior to the consideration by the Secretary of financial assistance for acquisition or development projects.

The State must produce a SCORP at least once every five (5) years and implement its recommendations through the OPSP in order to maintain the State's eligibility to participate in the LWCF Program. The State must develop the SCORP in accordance with this Chapter and submit a draft for NPS review. NPS Regional Director approval of a formal SCORP submission must occur prior to the expiration of the State's current SCORP to maintain LWCF eligibility.

Should the State fail to meet this deadline or if NPS finds that the pending SCORP currently under review is inadequate, NPS will provide written notification to the State's designated State Liaison Officer that it must correct the identified deficiencies within ninety (90) days following the last SCORP's expiration date, during which time NPS approval of acquisition and development projects may continue. However, if the State fails to take corrective action within the 90 days, the NPS Regional Director will suspend the State's eligibility.

The State may appeal to the NPS Director, along with appropriate justification, within 30 days following the Regional Director's 90-day notice. Appeals will be considered by the Director prior to the termination of the 90 day notice of the State's eligibility. The decision of the Director will be final.

8. NPS actions during periods of state ineligibility. During a period of state ineligibility, the following apply:
  - a. Requests for project approval received by the NPS, but not acted upon prior to the State's loss of eligibility, will be returned to the State as inactionable. The State may not submit projects to the NPS during a period of ineligibility.
  - b. Only requests for time extensions, deobligations, reimbursements, changes in scope, and project completions will be acted upon during a State's period of ineligibility. Amendments to increase funds will not be acted upon during this period.
  - c. Waivers of retroactivity will not be granted.

B. Open Project Selection Process

1. Purpose. The purpose of this section is to establish requirements for the States to conduct an open project selection process (OPSP) that will better assure equal opportunity for all eligible project sponsors and all sectors of the general public to participate in the benefits of the LWCF State Assistance Program and to enable the States to affirmatively address and meet priority recreation needs. OPSPs shall perform two essential functions:
  - a. Establishes a public notification process, LWCF application assistance, and review systems that assure equitable opportunities for participation in grant funding by all potentially eligible applicants.
  - b. Provides objective criteria and standards for project selection that are explicitly based on each State's priority needs for parkland acquisition and outdoor recreation development as identified in the SCORP. While it is recognized the SCORP may cover policy, legislative, management and other matters that go beyond priorities for capital funding and activities eligible for LWCF assistance, the OPSP supplies the most visible connection between a State's planning efforts and its use of LWCF grants to meet some of the high priority needs identified through its SCORP program.
2. Goals. The OPSP developed by each State shall be designed to accomplish the following goals:
  - a. Provide for public knowledge of and participation in the formulation and application of the project selection process used by the State in allocating LWCF assistance;
  - b. Ensure all potential state and local applicants are aware of the availability of and process for obtaining LWCF assistance, and provide opportunities for all eligible agencies to submit project applications and have them considered on an equitable basis;
  - c. Provide a measurable link, through published selection criteria, to the specific outdoor recreation needs and priorities identified in SCORP policies and implementation programs; and
  - d. Assure the distribution of LWCF assistance is accomplished in a non-discriminatory manner, especially with regard to minority, elderly, disabled, and other underserved populations and ensure a fair and equitable evaluation of all applications for LWCF assistance.

3. Requirements for an OPSP. Each State shall, as a condition of eligibility to receive assistance under the Fund program, implement an OPSP that has the following components:
  - a. Priority rating system. Each State shall develop a priority rating system for selecting projects that ensures the fair and equitable evaluation of all projects and at a minimum:
    - (1) Places the strongest possible emphasis on project selection criteria that conforms directly to explicit priority needs identified by the SCORP process. Because compatibility of projects funded with SCORP priorities is the primary measure of responsive planning and selection processes, SCORP-related criteria should be heavily-weighted to ensure that a) the rank ordering of projects closely reflects their response to plan-identified needs, and b) no project without measurable links to SCORP-identified priorities will be funded (see Section 2.c above).
    - (2) Encourages public participation in the formulation of grant proposals at the project sponsor level.
    - (3) Recognizes the need for accessibility of proposed projects, to the greatest extent practicable, to all segments of the public including minority populations, the elderly, individuals with disabilities, and other underserved populations.
    - (4) Requires project conformance to LWCF eligibility and evaluation criteria in Chapter 3, Sections B and C.
  - b. Project selection process. Each State shall develop a project selection process that evaluates and selects projects on the basis of quality and conformance with its priority rating system. The practice of dividing a State's apportionment between state and local projects may continue at the State's option. In this case, the State's project selection process may involve a single competition among all state and local projects or distinct processes and competitions for each of the two categories (i.e., state projects and local projects). The distribution of a State's apportionment strictly on the basis of geography or location of political subdivisions is prohibited.
  - c. Amendments to add funds to existing projects. A State may honor requests to amend projects to increase the cost of a state or locally sponsored project, including the federal share, without further OPSP competition only if the State has proposed, and the NPS approved, guidelines that are incorporated in the OPSP to cover this contingency. If no procedure is established, cost overrun projects must undergo OPSP competition to be amended for additional funding.
  - d. Recurring funding cycle. Each State shall institute a recurring funding cycle to regularize the timing for receiving, evaluating and selecting project proposals. The funding cycle must occur at least once every two (2) years and may occur at any other regular interval within the fiscal year as determined by the State. States shall clearly explain the funding cycle to potential applicants, especially for a two-year call for applications. All LWCF-funded projects submitted to NPS must have competed in such a funding cycle, and documentation of a project's ranking in such regular competitions must be available in state files.
  - e. Applicant notification. Each State shall inform all potential LWCF applicants about the availability of LWCF funding through direct contact with all potential sponsors or indirectly through state and local organizations. The information supplied shall include the types of areas and facilities eligible for funding, a statement of the State's overall objectives for use of funds under the LWCF grants program, guidance on how to apply for LWCF assistance and an explanation of how the State's OPSP works. Each State should also have available for review by potential applicants a list of the criteria it will use in selecting projects for priority funding during the current funding cycle.
  - f. Program assistance. Each State shall, to the extent practicable, provide assistance to any potential project sponsor who requests assistance with project formulation, proposal preparation in obtaining the non-federal matching share, and other matters necessary for participation with the program.
  - g. Underserved populations. Each State shall encourage projects which directly benefit minority and other underserved populations in the State. This may be accomplished through the SCORP planning process, and shall, at a minimum, reflect efforts to encourage applications from communities with significant minority and other underserved populations. Since social conditions vary from State to State, the design of the approach may be determined by each State.
  - h. Advisory boards. The use of advisory boards, commissions or committees to assist States in the selection of proposals to receive the available LWCF monies is encouraged but not required. If advisory boards, commissions or committees are utilized by a State, they must include representation of minorities to the extent that such representation reasonably reflects the ratio of minority to non-minority populations.

4. Public participation. Public participation programs developed by each State in accordance with SCORP requirements shall include provisions for insuring that the preparation and revision of project selection processes and priority rating systems are subject to public review and comment (including minority participation in this process) prior to their implementation. Use of public meetings and review by special interest groups, advisory committees, and park/recreation boards, commissions, or committees to assist in development of selection processes are encouraged.
5. NPS approval. New or revised OPSPs must be submitted to the NPS for review, evaluation, and approval before their use in state grant competitions.
6. Process review and updating. To ensure continuing close ties between a State's SCORP program and its OPSP, States must review project selection criteria each time that a new or amended SCORP is approved by the NPS. States must submit to the NPS a revised set of OPSP criteria that conform to any changes in SCORP priorities or submit an appropriate certification that no such revisions are necessary. The NPS will evaluate such revised submissions or certifications in the same manner as original submissions, and will ensure accurate conformity to the SCORP and to the objectivity and public participation objectives of this section before approving their use for LWCF project selection.

State implementation of OPSPs will also be reviewed, as part of the NPS' periodic state program review process, to determine each State's effectiveness in meeting the goals and requirements of this section. Failure by any State to keep its selection process active and up-to-date in relation to changing needs or conditions identified through its SCORP program may result in that State's loss of eligibility for participation in the LWCF Program.

C. Financial Assistance for SCORP Development

1. Purpose. The purpose of this section is to specify objectives and requirements governing use of planning grants from the LWCF. Such grants are to be used for developing a SCORP.
2. Use of LWCF planning grants. Since planning grants are intended for developing a SCORP as a decision-making and management tool, LWCF-assisted planning projects must be aimed at either (1) solving a problem identified in the last approved SCORP effort that addresses an outdoor recreation challenge or opportunity of statewide importance or (2) developing new data and decision tools identified as essential to completion of an upcoming SCORP.
3. Pre-application consultation. All planning grants should be the result of joint consultations between the NPS and the State on priority needs, within the context of a State's continuing and systematic outdoor recreation planning process.
4. Eligible applicants. Only the State Liaison Officer is eligible to apply for planning assistance from LWCF. Responsibility for executing a planning project or a portion thereof may be subcontracted to an appropriate non-federal governmental agency (general purpose or special purpose government unit) or to another public or private planning organization. In all cases, however, the State is obligated to supervise and to be responsible for all work performed, and must be directly involved in production of the final products of the grant and in the development of any policies or action options expected to result from project work.
5. Eligible planning projects. To be eligible for Fund assistance, a planning project must have a clearly defined end product that addresses needs, problems, or issues identified in a State's currently approved SCORP of statewide importance, or is otherwise essential, in the judgment of the State and the NPS, to production of an upcoming SCORP. It may be explicitly identified as part of a future planning program contained in the current SCORP or be logically implied, in the judgment of the NPS reviewers, by discussions of planning needs in such current SCORP documents; or respond to a specific planning deficiency identified by NPS as part of its periodic review of a State's planning program and state SCORP submissions.
  - a. Projects may include surveys, planning studies, data collection and analysis, public participation efforts, and other activities essential to production of a SCORP.

- b. Management studies related to improved statewide financing, operation, maintenance, stewardship, or other use of administrative resources to sustain outdoor recreation resources, including evaluation of the overall capabilities of state and local governments to fully protect and utilize their outdoor recreation investments, may be funded when clearly related to a State's overall SCORP program and to meeting the requirements of Section 6(f)3 of the LWCF Act for continued operation and maintenance of all Fund assisted areas and facilities.
- c. Studies of natural, ecological, or recreational resource areas, demonstration studies and topics of statewide significance or national concern related to public outdoor recreation are also eligible. These studies must meet the following criteria:
  - (1) The proposal must address a priority problem of statewide significance identified in approved SCORP documents or be essential for the development of decisionmaking information for an upcoming SCORP. The study must go beyond "basic research" or simple data collection to provide information likely to be used for state or local decision-making on outdoor recreation issues and programs, so it may provide specific recommendations for inclusion in the State's published SCORP.
  - (2) The proposal must include a justification indicating how the study would contribute to the State's overall SCORP program and future SCORP submissions. The proposal must also include evidence that the study will further the overall purposes of the SCORP process and must include an assessment of whether the monetary, personnel and other resources devoted to the study will contribute to and not detract from the accomplishment of other high priority planning objectives identified in SCORP submissions or in the NPS' reviews of a State's continuing planning process.
  - (3) The study should include a public participation program through which concerned public and private agencies or organizations and interested citizens can be kept informed of, and allowed to comment on, study objectives and results.
  - (4) Responsibility for the overall project, as well as its different elements, must be clearly identified if more than one agency is to be involved.
  - (5) When public land protection measures are proposed, the study must include an examination of the feasibility of any alternatives to fee simple acquisition of the resources to be protected.
- d. Studies or other investigations that are primarily aimed at promoting tourism, other state and local economic activities, or the promotion of private recreation expenditures through recreation development are not eligible for planning grant assistance. However, studies aimed at analyzing or documenting the contributions of outdoor recreation resources to a State's economy or environment or at improving state decisions on the appropriate public and private roles in the management of various recreation resources may be eligible for funding when they meet other appropriate criteria for eligibility as outlined elsewhere in this section.
- e. Detailed plans for capital projects, sketch or site plans, individual area master plans, economic feasibility studies, landscape designs, or architectural and engineering studies are not eligible for planning grant assistance.
- f. Planning proposals must take into account past studies of the same or similar resources or programs to ensure that the proposed efforts do not duplicate earlier research. They must consider any relevant federal resources, plans, or programs and be correlated, so far as practicable with other state, regional and local plans.
- g. Two or more planning projects may be carried out concurrently providing they do not duplicate one another. Work items funded under an LWCF planning grant must not overlap with work items assisted by another LWCF grant, or financially-assisted under other federal programs, or otherwise accomplished with federal personnel or resources.
- h. When a grant proposal involves funding of outdoor recreation planning elements as part of a larger "consolidated and simplified" state planning process as authorized by Executive Order 12372 Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs, particular assurance must be provided by the State that the LWCF grant will be used for direct support of outdoor recreation planning work items and not, either directly or indirectly, of non-recreation planning items, such as housing, transportation, or general economic development.
- i. Planning grants may not encompass any costs for acquisition of land or interests in land or for development of new facilities. Nor may land acquisition or development costs be used as any part of a grantee's matching share of eligible planning costs.

6. Available funding. Up to 50% of the total cost of an eligible planning project is available to a State, on a reimbursement basis, from its LWCF apportionment account. However, grants to the Insular Areas may be made available on a 100% basis. While there is no dollar limit on the amount of a State's apportionment which can be used for planning grants, the National Park Service reserves the right to limit the size of specific projects based upon each State's planning needs and the relationship of planning costs to overall funding resources. For this reason, NPS regional offices should consult with the Washington program office before approving any planning grant or amendment for which the total LWCF obligation will exceed $100,000 or five percent of a State's most recent apportionment, whichever is greater.
7. Allowable costs. Project costs incurred to sustain an ongoing outdoor recreation planning process are reimbursable as part of an approved planning project. These include the preparation, publishing and distribution of appropriate documents, such as core SCORP and OPSP documents, supplemental recreation policy or action plans and related studies. Costs of data collection and processing, public participation activities, special studies, etc. are also eligible for assistance. Contracted professional services for eligible planning activities may be allowed, if, in the National Park Service's judgment, overall responsibility for planning policies and action recommendations is clearly retained by the State Liaison Officer or other designated state agency. All contracts awarded by a grantee must be in accord with the procurement standards and procedures of the Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State and Local Governments, OMB Circular A-102 requirements at 43 CFR 12 Subpart C (see Chapter 7).
8. Length of project period. Planning projects should normally cover a period of two years or less to ensure timely completion and close-out of complex work efforts and reduce audit problems. In no case should a single planning grant include elements from more than one complete SCORP cycle, except where costs of publication and distribution of a SCORP document from a previous cycle may be reasonably included as a public participation element in the next SCORP cycle.
9. Acknowledgement of assistance. When assistance from the LWCF is provided for a project, the resulting document shall include the following acknowledgement:

"The preparation (updating, revision) of this plan (study, analysis, etc.) was financed in part through a planning grant from the National Park Service, United States Department of the Interior, under the provisions of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (Public Law 88-578, as amended)."

This statement may be expanded at the State's discretion to reflect the manner in which the non-federal share of the total cost was financed.

10. Executive Order 12372 intergovernmental review. For those States participating in the intergovernmental review process, a copy of the planning grant application must be submitted to a State's Single Point of Contact (SPOC) or State Clearinghouse in accordance with the intergovernmental review requirements of Executive Order 12372.

Submissions to the SPOC should normally consist of copies of the material to be provided to the NPS in the application package, including a notice of intent describing the project purpose, scope, cost, and beneficiaries to allow the SPOC to provide potentially interested agencies with an opportunity to comment on the proposed effort. States are responsible for considering SPOC comments prior to submitting the planning grant formal application to NPS in order to address comments as appropriate.

LWCF planning grant applications should include assurances that the recreation planning objectives and products of the grant are in accord with comprehensive state planning goals, as determined by the Governor or state agency designated to coordinate overall planning.

11. Project application. The standard federal forms used for non-construction assistance programs (SF-424, SF-424A and SF-424B) are used when applying for LWCF planning assistance. They must be accompanied by the appropriate required forms as follows:

- a. LWCF project agreement (Form NPS 10-902). A LWCF project agreement form must be completed for all planning projects. For planning grants, the "Project Scope" section of the agreement must also reference and incorporate a more detailed narrative attachment which covers the following items:
    - (1) Identification of the objectives of the grant, with reference to planning needs identified in existing SCORP documents or other justification in terms of the project's compatibility with overall SCORP program priorities.
    - (2) The planning products that will result and how they will contribute to maintenance of the SCORP program, and, if appropriate, the relationship of a new proposal to other planning grants received by a State.
    - (3) The general approach to be used, including a schedule of key events, the breadth of study coverage, and cost estimates for each work item indicating how funds will be used by object class (personnel, travel, equipment, consultant contracts, etc.).
    - (4) A discussion of the personnel, organizations or outside consultants that may be used to implement the project, with an explanation of any special knowledge or expertise which they will provide.
  - b. Proposal Description and Environmental Screening Form (PD/ESF) Cover Page (see Chapter 4).
  - c. Description and Notification Form (DNF)
12. NPS review. Project applications will be reviewed by the NPS to determine if all planning assistance requirements have been met. This evaluation will focus on the following specific criteria:
- a. The project must be an integral part of the SCORP process and clearly essential to maintenance of the SCORP as a decision-making or management tool. If need for the project is not explicitly identified in current SCORP documents, there must be mutual agreement between the NPS and the State on the priority need for the project effort as part of a State's overall recreation planning program.
  - b. Timing, scope, costs, and methodology of the project must be appropriate to the planning benefits received and complementary to any other planning efforts needed to address identified deficiencies in a State's overall planning program.
  - c. Project work elements must be clearly identified with reasonable scheduling, staffing, and cost estimates assigned to each element.
  - d. Grant products such as published plans, studies, new policies or procedures to be adopted, reports, evaluations, or other documents must be explicitly identified.
  - e. Both the agency requesting the assistance and the project itself must be eligible for planning assistance from the LWCF.
  - f. The requirements of Executive Order 12372 relating to review and comment by a participating state clearinghouse must have been completed if applicable.
  - g. There must be no duplication of federal assistance for work items funded under the project.
13. Amendments. Changes that materially alter the scope and/or change the cost or the completion time of a project must be approved by the NPS. When a State wishes to change its project, it should discuss the proposed changes with NPS prior to submitting an amendment to the project agreement. Amendments will be reviewed and processed following the same procedures used for a complete planning project. Only those changes considered to be major and substantive will be required to receive E.O.12372 clearinghouse review if applicable.
14. Financial procedures. Adequate financial records must be maintained to support all the costs involved in a project. A documentation "trail" adequate to withstand audit should be maintained. Generally accepted accounting and auditing principles will apply to project records, accounts and documentation. Such records must be in accord with the principles established in OMB Circulars A-102 and A-87 for prevention of fraud, waste and abuse in federal programs. Particular attention should be paid by the grantee to good records of in house personnel costs attributable to the planning grant. Time distribution records must be maintained for each individual for whom LWCF grant costs are to be claimed. Careful records of time spent on SCORP elements are especially important when personnel are splitting their time between one or more SCORP projects and other planning or administrative duties.

To guard against fraud, waste and abuse or possible disallowance of legitimate grant costs, it is recommended that grantees establish a separate tracking account for each planning grant. No grantee reimbursement requests or electronic transfer of funds can be made without NPS review of a progress report covering expenditures and accomplishments under the grant for the requested reimbursement. Requests for reimbursement or electronic transfer of funds may only be made for definable products or completion of distinct planning elements.

15. Reimbursements. NPS will place a financial hold on all planning grants at the time of NPS project approval. States using the SMARTLINK automated drawdown method (see Chapter 7.E) must obtain NPS approval of their progress report BEFORE payments are requested through the SMARTLINK system. Each SMARTLINK drawdown for planning grants must be preceded by a reimbursement request (SF-270 Request for Reimbursement for Non-construction Grants) and a progress report (see next item) for NPS review. Upon approval, NPS will provide the State with a letter authorizing a SMARTLINK drawdown for the approved reimbursement amount.

16. Progress reports. Reports of progress toward the completion of a planning project must accompany each payment request (see above.) However, at a minimum, a progress report must be submitted to NPS within one year of project approval with or without a payment request. Progress reports shall include:
  - a. A list of the major work items (elements) agreed to in the project scope of the grant contract.
  - b. A narrative description of the status of work for each item in the project.
  - c. Identification of any elements that are behind schedule and why.
  - d. Actual or projected completion dates for each work item.
  - e. If appropriate, evaluations of the success or failure to date of the planning approaches used and of any effects of project work to date on state policies or improved management of state programs.
  - f. Estimated costs incurred during the billing period for each work item.
  - g. Total costs incurred and total costs previously billed for all parts of the project to date.

Appendix B: Recreation and Trail Stakeholder List

The recreation and trail stakeholder database includes contact information for approximately 1,400 stakeholders. Agencies, organizations and individuals that have internal recreation planning components affecting Alabama or are otherwise involved in the recreation planning process that were included in the stakeholder database include the following:

- Federal Agencies:
U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Agricultural Extension Service, Tennessee Valley Authority, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Resource Conservation and Development Districts (RC&D's), Bureau of Land Management, and U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.
- State Departments:

Appendix C: SCORP Telephone Survey

The survey instrument on the following pages was utilized by the Center for Business and Economic Services at the Troy University Sorrell College of Business to conduct a telephone survey as part of the Alabama SCORP, 2008-2012 planning process. Over 2,500 surveys of Alabama households were completed by calling randomly drawn residential telephone numbers across the state. Sample numbers were based on the square roots of the populations of the 12 planning regions across the state in order to keep the sample from being overly concentrated in the urban planning regions. Within each planning region, county samples were based on each county's percentage share of the planning region's population.

The telephone survey collected data regarding the number of participants and the number of participation occasions for more than 40 outdoor recreation activities, the importance of outdoor recreation, felt needs, greatest recreational needs, perceived barriers to use of outdoor recreation facilities and the level of responsibility of state and local governments to provide outdoor recreational facilities and opportunities. The Center for Business and Economic Services provided an analysis of the survey results for the State and for each of the 12 regional planning commissions in Alabama. The 2008 SCORP Survey Analysis document is available as a companion document to the Alabama SCORP, 2008-2012 and is also available on the ADECA website at www.adeca.alabama.gov

Appendix D: Trail Plan Glossary of Terms

The following is a list of commonly used terms related to trails and their definitions.

Bike Lane: A portion of a roadway that has been designated by striping, signing, and pavement markings for the preferential or exclusive use of bicyclists.

Bike Path (Bike Trail, Multi-Use Path/Trail): Any corridor that is physically separated from motorized vehicular traffic by an open space or barrier. It is either within the highway right-of-way or within an independent right-of-way. Due to a lack of pedestrian facilities, most bike paths/trails are commonly designed and referenced as multi-use paths and trails.

Bike Route: A roadway segment designated with appropriate “bike route” directional and informational markers.

Bikeways: Any road, path or way which in some manner is specifically designated for the exclusive use of bicycles or are to be shared with other transportation modes.

Bridleway (Bridle Path): Public way designed and maintained primarily for equestrian use. Other non-motorized uses may be permitted.

Canal: An artificial waterway for transportation or irrigation. Canal and irrigation ditch banks are often used as trails.

Corridor, Scenic: Land set aside on either side of a trail to act as a buffer zone protecting the trail against impacts such as logging or development, which would detract from the quality and experience of a trail.

Corridor, Trail: The full dimensions of a trail within a trail route, including the tread and a zone on either side (2 to 3 feet) and above the tread from which brush will be removed.

Designated Trail: A trail that is approved and maintained by an agency

Destination Trail: A trail that connects two distinct points (A to B) rather than returning the user to the original beginning point.

Extended Trail: Trails over 100 miles in length (as defined in the National Trails System Act).

Feeder Trail: A trail designed to connect local facilities, neighborhoods, campgrounds, etc. to a main trail.

Footpath: A path over which the public has a right-of-way on foot only. Wheelchairs are also permitted, although this may not be practical due to surface or slope.

Greenway: A linear open space established along a natural corridor, such as a river, stream, ridgeline, rail-trail, canal, or other route for conservation, recreation, or alternative transportation purposes. Greenway can connect parks, nature preserves, cultural facilities, and historic sites with business and residential areas.

Greenway, Community: Safe, off-road corridor of open space that connects neighborhoods, schools, parks, workplaces, and community centers via paths and trails.

Greenway, Conservation: Open space corridor that protects biodiversity and water resources by connecting natural features such as streams, wetlands, forests, and steep slopes.

Heritage Corridor: The term “heritage corridor” is used to describe a heritage area that is organized around and focused on one linear resource such as a river, canal or road.

Heritage Trail: A heritage trail is an established path or route that most often focuses around one central theme that interprets an aspect of an area’s history or culture. Heritage trails connect physical pathways to patterns and cultures of settlement. Trails may be recreational and/or scenic (Blue Ridge Parkway); they may be historically important travel corridor (Natchez Trace National Historic Trail; Route 66); or they may be sites linked by a thematic itinerary (Boston Freedom Trail).

Hiker-Biker Trail: An urban paved trail designed for use by pedestrians and bicyclists.

Hiking Trail: Moderate to long distance trail with the primary function of providing long-distance walking experiences (usually two miles or more).

Interpretive Trail: Short to moderate length trail (1/2 to 1 mile) with concentrated informational stops to explain associated views, natural flora or fauna, and other features.

Long Distance Trail: In general best characterized by length (more than 50 miles), linearity (follows a linear feature), and diversity (geographic and political).

Loop Trail: Trail systems designed so that the routes form loops, giving users the option of not traveling the same section of trail more than once on a trip.

Multiple-Use (Multi-Use) Trail: A trail that permits more than one user group at a time (equestrian, ORVer, hiker, mountain bicyclist, etc.).

National Historic Trail: Federally designated extended trails, which closely follow original routes of nationally significant travel (explorers, emigrants, traders, military, etc.). The Iditarod, the Lewis and Clark, the Mormon Pioneer, and the Oregon Trails were the first to be designated as National Historic Trails in 1978.

National Recreation Trail: Existing local trails (over 800) recognized by the federal government as contributing to the National Trails System.

National Scenic Trail: Federally designated trails, which provide for the maximum outdoor recreation potential and for the conservation and enjoyment of the significant qualities of the areas through which they pass. The Appalachian and the Pacific Crest trails were the first to be designated as National Scenic Trails in 1968.

Nature Trail: Moderate length trail (3/4 to 2 miles) with primary function of providing an opportunity to walk and study interesting or unusual plants or natural features at user's pleasure. The ideal nature trail has a story to tell. It unifies the various features or elements along the trail into a related whole.

Primary Trail: Continuous through routes that originate at trailheads. Primarily for directing users through an area while promoting a certain type of experience.

Rail-Trail (Rail-to-Trail): A multi-purpose public path (paved or natural) created along an inactive rail corridor.

Rail-with-Trail: A trail that shares the same corridor with active rail traffic.

Recreationway: A unified system of linear interconnected open spaces and natural areas that accommodate trail uses, and where possible, other compatible and supporting activities.

Single-Use Trail: One that is designed and constructed for only one intended user (i.e. hiker use only).

Social Trail (Wildcat, Way, Informal): Unplanned/ unauthorized trails that develop informally from use and are not designated or maintained by an agency; often found cutting switchbacks or between adjacent trails.

Spine Trail: A regional trail that acts as a "backbone" to a regional trail system.

Spur Trail: A trail that leads from primary, secondary, or spine trails to points of user interests — overlooks, campsites, etc.

Trail: A linear corridor, on land or water, which provides for access for recreation and transportation as well as related outdoor education and sport activities. A trail may link two or more points or be a looped system with the same start and end point. It may be single or share use; non-motorized and/or motorized; single season or year-round; narrow or wide; urban and/or rural; and comprised of various types of surfaces. It may be a stand-alone entity or part of a broader corridor such as a greenway. The term trail has evolved to include routes on existing transportation systems that link points of a specific program perspective usually of a historical theme.

Trail Route: The general location of a trail from a point of origin to a point of destination. The point of origin and destination may be the same as for a loop trail; or a linear corridor connecting two separate points. Within the trail route, a trail corridor would be defined.

Trailway: The portion of the trail within the limits of the excavation and embankment.

Travelway: The trail as a whole, including the trail tread and the cleared areas on either side of the trail.

Water Trail (River Trail, Canoe Trail, Blueway): A recreational waterway on lake, river, or ocean between specific points, containing access and day use and/or camping sites for the boating public.

Appendix E: Segmented Distance Trail Sites

The following is a list of Alabama's Distance Trails that are considered to be segmented trails. Although these trails do not follow a continuous path, they are still considered to be distance trails because of their connectivity by virtue of their relationship, or connectivity, to one another. This appendix includes trail sites for the following trails:

- E1. Birding Trails
- E2. Native American Trails
- E3. Scenic Drives and Covered Bridge Trail
- E4. Robert Trent Jones Golf Trail
- E5. Hunting and Fishing Trail for People with Physical Disabilities
- E6. Quail Trail
