Agency Name: The Jefferson County Committee for Economic Opportunity

- i. How did the agency identify the community need?

The Jefferson County Committee for Economic Opportunity (JCCEO) has long been concerned about the high dropout rate, low graduation rate, and high crime rate among low-income inner city youth in our community. In response to recent research that suggests that targeting middle school youth is the most effective means of addressing these concerns, and taking advantage of the addition to JCCEO's staff of several young professionals who were interested in working with youth, JCCEO administrators and managers worked with them to develop "Breakfast Clubs" at a local middle school.

- ii. How were CSBG funds used to plan, manage, and/or develop the approach?

CSBG funds helped pay the costs for administrative and program staff to work with young professional staff to plan and implement the Breakfast Club project. CSBG funds support the provision of breakfast refreshments for the students when donations are not available.

- iii. What local partners were involved, and how did each contribute to the program?

Local partners have included Putnam Middle School administrators and staff who helped to plan the project, several volunteer young professionals who have assisted with the breakfast sessions, and several local restaurants that have provided breakfast food.

- iv. What outcome indicators did the agency use to measure success?

6.3 Y 1-5
JCCEO has used attendance, response and feedback from Putnam Middle School administrators and staff, and survey feedback from students and parents to measure success. In the future, JCCEO hopes to also track graduation rates at the end of high school to help determine outcomes for participants.

- v. What outcomes have resulted in FY 2010? If no outcomes yet, when?

This project has been hailed as a success by the middle school staff, students, and parents. School staff report better attendance and improved attentiveness and dedication on the part of participating students. This project also resulted in increased connection with and trust from Breakfast Club parents, who stated that their children look forward to Breakfast Club meetings. The Birmingham City School Board presented the JCCEO Breakfast Club Project an Outstanding Partner in Education Award.

2. Delivering High-Quality, Accessible, and Well-Managed Services

- a. Please describe what you consider to be the top management accomplishment achieved by your State CSBG office during FY 2010. Show how responsible, informed leadership led to effective and efficient management of the CSBG program.

Accomplishment:

The Agency was able to 100% implement the state mandated data system with its CSBG programs. This made all reporting requirements less time consuming and more accurate.

Agency Name:

Accomplishment:

Successful administration of stimulus monies through collaborations in our coverage area by creating jobs, retaining positions in our own agency as well as providing financial support to other agencies to maintain certain employees. In addition, we improved infrastructure within our own organization by purchasing new computers in administration and the Head Start administrative office, as well as purchase of a new telephone system for the agency. Upgrade of internet access was also done in our outlying areas.

Agency Name:

Accomplishment:

Informing our clients on programs available, and up-coming events and programs helps our agency manage the services we provide. Partnerships with other agencies, churches, and local officials helped our agency offer programs that we were not able to do alone. The Agency set up a information center in the waiting area. Follow-up with clients and organized scheduling helps the operation of our services.
